„Super Garden was born from ... practicality. When you wanted something delicious at home. When you want food that fits and appeals to everyone”, said Super Garden founder Laura. Lovingly grown in fresh air and fertile soil, the products go from the farmers to the manufacturer immediately after harvesting. Here, the products are lyophilized, packaged and shipped directly to customers' homes. Lyophilization, otherwise known as freeze-drying, is the gold standard for preserving products, which allows you to preserve products as they are fresh, without the use of any additives, preservatives, added sugar or other added substances. Today, the range of Super Garden products is the widest in the world. The company offers as many as fifteen categories of products: smoothies, ice creams and sweets, berries, fruits, snacks, granola, drinks, vegetables, sprinkles, powders, spices, cheeses, kits, eco products and advent calendars.
