

Parental Alienation – Current Challenges and Dilemmas

Dear Sir/Madam,

it is our distinct pleasure to cordially invite you to participate in the scientific conference:

Parental Alienation – Current Challenges and Dilemmas

The conference will be held in Konin (Poland) on the 24th of November, 2020

The upcoming Conference agenda will focus on the discussion on parental alienation, which, as a hidden form of family violence, leads to serious behavioral disorders in the children concerned.

Parental alienation entails a parental figure engaging, consciously or unconsciously, in the long-term use of complex behaviors to harm the relationship between their child and another parental figure with the justification to protect child's best interests.

The Conference aims at discussing parental alienation from an interdisciplinary perspective. We therefore would like to invite all of the researchers, PhD students, psychiatrists, psychologists, pedagogists, lawyers, cultural studies researchers, anthropologists, sociologists, researchers in other related fields as well as all people passionate about the topic.

Participants may present their findings by oral presentation and/or taking part in conference discussions.

Submissions should be sent to jakub.bartoszewski@konin.edu.pl
